

Will Pound

Described as 'breathtaking', Will Pound is one of the best harmonica players in the UK and arguably the world. Abilities to cover a wide range of genre's from Folk, Jazz, Blues and Pop to Rock, Bluegrass, Arabic and many more, he combines mind-blowing technique along with a natural feel for music.

In addition to The QP, Will performs in a number of bands and duos which includes a duo with Dan Walsh (the UK's top Clawhammer banjo player), Edward Jay (theatre accordionist), and Steamchicken (one of Britain's top ceilidh bands).

Will has appeared on stage with the likes of Brendan Power (Riverdance), Sandra Kerr (composer of childrens TV program Bagpuss), and Ali Anderson (concertina player in Kate Bush's rocketman music video). Will is in demand as a session musician, workshop leader and harmonica teacher, and enjoys nothing more than playing with other musicians. He also plays Melodeon and Piano. Will has played venues such as the Sage Gateshead, London's Southbank, and the London Barbican.

"The best harmonica player we have ever seen" (Carrivick Sisters). "He can switch between Will Atkinsons, Brendan Powers style to his own just like that!" (Sandra Kerr). "Astonishing!" (Tim Edey band).
